

MANY GOOD THINGS SAID OF EARLINGTON AND MADISONVILLE

Some of the Expressions of the Kentucky Press
Upon Their Recent Outing at Loch Mary.

Courier-Journal, Aug. 3.

The hospitality of the citizens of Hopkins county to the visitors has been the heartiest and kindest possible and has won the hearts of the whole editorial fraternity. It has opened their eyes also to the great development going on here under the auspices of the coal operators. The highest praise is awarded them by citizens, all of whom declare Mr. J. B. Atkinson the Carnegie of Earlinton.

Louisville Evening Post, Aug. 3.

The St. Bernard Coal Company, at Earlinton, did itself proud yesterday in entertaining the visitors. Nothing was left undone that could have added pleasure to the editorial party.

Semi-Weekly Progress, Elton, Aug. 6.

Immediately upon the adjournment of the Friday morning session there was in waiting at the depot a special train to transport the press to Earlinton, the prosperous little mining city five miles away, where the editors spent the day in that beautiful park and lakeside as the special guests of the St. Bernard Coal Co. Nobody regretted going; it was a day long to remember in memory. After Mayor Burr had extended the welcome and Bob Brown had thanked him and other press boys had tossed a few bouquets, dinner was announced. Two large, long tables about a half mile long, filled with barbecued mutton, fine tomatoes, ices, cakes, breads, pickles, there stood smiling, not knowing their speedy fate. The feast was full, it was ample, and it was delightful. Dinner over the band began to play, the cake walk was turned on and here was a sight for the gods. Just imagine if you can such handsome forms as Col. Lige Seebree, Major Geo. C. Atkinson, Secretary Bob Morningstar, Judge C. C. Givens, Editor Bob Brown, et al., cake-walking in open court. They did it and the scene was enjoyable in the extreme.

Carroll County Republican, Carrollton, Aug. 21.

The feature of the stay at Madisonville was a trip by special train to Earlinton. There a cordial welcome awaited the visitors. The entertainment was in charge of Mr. Paul M. Moore. He was ably assisted by the ladies of Earlinton. There was a picnic dinner with barbecued meat and all the good things that go with it, ices and cakes, etc., and through it all was the hearty welcome and good will of the people. Nothing could have been more delightful than this picnic and we know more, too, about the coal mining interests of the place. We know that its population doubled in an incredibly short time, that its coal mining interests are enormous and that it is a very beautiful part of the State.

The Critic, Louisville, Aug. 18.

The trip was marked by an endless succession of receptions and banquets beginning at Madisonville, where the citizens turned out en masse to do them honor, continuing with the beautiful al fresco dinner given at Earlinton by the St. Bernard Coal Co., and a reception the same night at the Hotel Lucile at Madisonville.

The Record, Greenville, Aug. 29.

Earlinton, which is the only town that has the boldness to vie with Madisonville in her aims and claims of "get there" invited the party to spend Friday afternoon with them—guests of the St. Bernard Coal Co. A special train conveyed the crowd to Earlinton, and a string of carriages transported them to Loch Mary Park. Addresses of welcome, responses and then a general run of introductions were had, when, at about 1 o'clock, long tables were surrounded. Thereon one found everything to satisfy the splendid appetites each possessed. Odors of barbecued meats and the vision of pretty girl waiters linger with us still. The time was spent until 11 o'clock in dancing and other amusements. It was a delightful condition to have two towns so good-naturedly pulling at us, in a friendly rivalry to do us honor.

Glasgow Republican, Aug. 29.

The people of Madisonville opened their hearts and homes to the delegates in the true old-fashioned Kentucky style. Friday we were delightfully entertained with speeches and a bountiful dinner by the St. Bernard Coal Company in the thriving town of Earlinton.

Guthrie Graphic, Aug. 8.

At eleven o'clock Friday morning a special train carried the editors to Earlinton where a barbecue that was a barbecue was extended them by the citizens of that little city.

Louisville Evening Post, Aug. 24.

Then the good people of Earlinton took possession of the party, and on a special train conveyed them to their pretty little city. Here carriages were in waiting for a ride to the lake, where a bountiful luncheon was spread by the St. Bernard Coal Company. One thing was especially noticeable here, and that was the look of peace and contentment on the face of everyone in the town, whether man, woman or child. The St. Bernard Coal Company furnishes employment to most of the townspersons in the mines and in offices and stores. Its pay roll at the mines amounts to hundreds of thousands of dollars every year.

Meade County Messenger, Aug. 21.

At 11 a. m. we left on a special train for Earlinton, where the St. Bernard Coal Co. gave a luncheon in honor of the K. P. A. It was a most enjoyable affair and will long be remembered by the "press gang." At 11 o'clock we returned to Madisonville. The afternoon was devoted to sight-seeing and the general view of "ye editors" was that Madisonville and Earlinton are progressive and hustling cities, with bright futures before them.

Paris Democrat, Aug. 23.

Upon adjournment a committee of citizens of Earlinton were in waiting with a special train for a visit to that thriving city. The program of pleasure was begun with several hours spent at Lakeside Park, where speeches of welcome were made by Mayor Burr, Elijah Seebree and J. R. Rash. Mr. Rash drew a most inviting picture of the growth of Earlinton and Hopkins, telling a splendid story of progress through the development of the mining industry. A luncheon of barbecued meats and other good things was served under the trees by the St. Bernard Coal Company, and afterward the visitors enjoyed themselves with cakewalks and other amusements.

Allen Reflector, Scottsville, Aug. 23.

Friday afternoon the editors boarded a special train and were taken to Earlinton, a city of 3,000 people. At this place they were guests of the St. Bernard Coal Co. On their programme was a barbecued dinner, good music, a dance and a cake walk in their lovely park on the north bank of an artificial lake of clear water covering 100 acres. The men composing this company have made Earlinton and developed this section wonderfully in the last twenty years. * * * The veins are six feet thick and afford the highest grades of bituminous coal. * * * Every editor present left there with a higher regard for those enterprising business men, and for that rich section of our beloved commonwealth.

Hopkinsville Kentucky, Aug. 6.

At eleven o'clock Friday morning the body left in a special train for Earlinton, where the editors were royally entertained in the beautiful grove on the banks of the lake. While waiting for the tables to be spread, Mayor Burr delivered an address of welcome. Col. E. G. Seebree and Mr. Jas. Rash also spoke, and on the part of the newspaper men short speeches were made by President R. W. Brown, Chas. M. Meacham and Jno. H. Westover. The dinner of barbecued mutton, bread, pickles, tomatoes, ices, cakes and other good things was one of the pleasantest features of the press meeting. The citizens of Earlinton were most cordial in their welcome and unbounded in their hospitality. Mr. George Atkinson of the St. Bernard Coal Company was the master spirit of the entertainment.

Barfield Herald, Aug. 7.

The little city of Earlinton, four miles distant from Madisonville, would not permit the latter city to monopolize the entertainment of the editorial crowd. A special train of five coaches, for the accommodation of the K. P. A. and the members of the reception committee of the two cities, was provided to transfer the party to Earlinton. Arrived at Earlinton the party was met by buggies and carriages and given a most delightful drive about the city and on out to Loch Mary, a beautiful body of water comprising eighty acres. Here, at Lakeside Park, a most delightful luncheon and reception was provided. The people of Earlinton never do things by halves, and the editorial function was a splendid illustration of their well-earned name for hospitality and generosity. At the end of the speaking, the barbecue, the delicacies and the cigars, a cakewalk was instituted in the dancing pavilion, in which a number of citizens of Earlinton, Madisonville and members of the K. P. A. took part. The mayors of two cities and members of the St. Bernard Coal Co., whose unstinted generosity was so conspicuous in the entertainment of the editorial party, vied with the ladies and other members of the K. P. A. in making the cakewalk one of uproarious fun and amusement. There was not a hitch nor a set-back in the splendid entertainment accorded the editorial party at Madisonville and Earlinton and every member joins the other in expressions of satisfaction and enjoyment.

The Reporter, Paducah, Aug. 15.

The annual business meeting held at Madisonville was largely attended and with the co-operation of Earlinton the Madisonville people took good care of the visitors, a fine luncheon at Earlinton's attractive park being one of the most enjoyed features of the occasion.

Kentuckian-Citizen, Paris, Aug. 7.

The editors were given a barbecue at Earlinton, Friday, in the beautiful grove near an improved lake of 20 acres of clear water. [Col. Craddock is not used to that water and hasn't a good eye for its accurate measurement. He missed it about 80 acres. Now if he could have estimated it in "fingers" it might have been different—Edmon.] No strong drinks used, but so much to eat we foundered. On arriving at Earlinton, it being said we were the only one of the editors there at a reception 23 years ago, a wild Irishman, Charley McFadden, said, "I want you to see the changes," and he drove us at a 2:40 gait behind a fast horse over rough places, in so much we held our breath and trusted in the Lord and did safely arrive at the Park. The improvement in 23 years was great.

Calhoun Star, Aug. 20.

The Association after a few preliminaries, then adjourned and went immediately to the depot, where a special train, chartered by the St. Bernard Coal Co. was awaiting to take us to Earlinton. When we arrived at Earlinton we found a sumptuous barbecued dinner awaiting our arrival, of which we partook heartily. After dinner some roamed through the beautiful woods, while others danced and cake-walked until train time. At 4:30 p. m. we boarded the special train and went back to Madisonville, feeling better and having a high regard for the people of Earlinton, and extending our greatest appreciation to the St. Bernard Coal Co.

Farmer's Friend, Millersburg, Aug. 24.

The meeting adjourned to take the cars to Earlinton where the biggest treat of the whole two weeks awaited us. The St. Bernard Coal Company had chartered an engine and coaches to take us to Earlinton and provided carriages to convey us from the depot to the park. Arriving at Earlinton we were at once taken to Lakeside Park. Addresses were made by the mayor of Earlinton, President Brown, Chas. Meacham, Hon. Lige Seebree, Col. J. R. Rash and others. Dinner was soon announced. And such a dinner! It was simply astonishing the amount of food the good ladies had prepared and it is needless to state the editorial crowd made a gallant onslaught on the edibles but were unable to consume near one-half of the good things before them. * * * After dinner a most enjoyable cake-walk was given, participated in by many of the prominent people of Hopkins county. For an hour or more the fun was "fast and furious." But as all pleasures must have an ending we soon were forced to bid adieu to Earlinton, her people and our most hospitable hosts, the officers of the St. Bernard Coal Company. Earlinton has a population of 3,000 inhabitants and is a fine little city. No saloons are allowed in the town, and consequently the people are happier and more prosperous therefor. At the park, where we were entertained, is a very beautiful lake covering eighty some odd acres. The mines of the St. Bernard company are located on the outskirts of the town. These mines furnish some of the best grades of coal now on the market.

Better Outlook in Hopkins County.
Courier-Journal of August 31.

The news that the union miners who have been camped at Nortonville have been dispersed by their officials is highly gratifying. So large a body of union men grouped near the mines which are being operated by independent labor was a challenge to disorder. The devil is credited with always having mischief for idle hands to do, and in a place where there has already been a good deal of violence and where feeling has run so high for months, the encampment was naturally looked upon as a hostile demonstration. Probably the prompt dismissal of the band has saved Hopkins county from fresh scenes of violence.

The industrial situation in Hopkins is a complicated one and has been deeply aggravated by the interference of Indiana miners. These mines have been very prosperous, and production has so expanded that the United Mine Workers, as might have been expected, undertook to organize the operatives. The mine owners objected to this and so far have been mainly successful in the conflicts which have resulted. The union men must have had advisers, for they have invoked or accepted the assistance of Indiana agitators, and there have been repeated clashes and several fights. Without undertaking to determine the merits of the quarrel it may be said that it was a dangerous policy to bring in outsiders. Strangers have no business in family quarrels.

The miners have done so well in Hopkins and opportunities for labor have been so greatly increased that it is to be hoped the troubles will soon come to an end. The best that the future has in store for these working-men lies in the well doing of the mines. If they can enlarge their output and sell it at profitable figures, wages will naturally rise and opportunities for employment will increase. The very worst thing that can be done for the operatives is to compel the closing down or the unprofitable working of the mines. When the proprietors are losing money it needs no prophet to tell what eventually will come to pass. The action of the union leaders in sending the campers home is, therefore, a step in the right direction.

Lecture and Recital.

The lecture and elocutionary recital given at the M. E. Church, South, Monday evening by Rev. Rufus Cornelius, of Gordonsville, Tenn., was much appreciated by those present. The young divine is said to possess marked talent and no doubt has a bright future in store for him. He gave his recital at the City Hall in Nebo Tuesday evening where he was met by an appreciative audience and left yesterday morning for his home. Rev. Curran and Misses Lula Jordan and Annie Ashby heard him at Nebo.

MORE NIGHT ATTACKS ON NON-UNION MINERS.

House Shot Full of Holes at Barnsley Tuesday Night.

ARMISTICE INOPERATIVE THERE.

Shooting Done by Three Men Armed With Winchester Rifles.

About twenty shots were fired by three men into one house in about one minute's time at Barnsley Tuesday night shortly after ten o'clock. Nineteen empty 38-calibre Winchester shells and one that had been snapped but did not explode, were found in three piles at a distance of thirty-five yards from the house. One spent bullet looked like it might have come from a revolver but it might have been from a rifle.

Fourteen rifle bullets pierced the sides of the house, two went through the roof and one through the lower part of the fence. Some of them passed through both walls of the Laprade house and struck the house standing next, occupied by William Sanders.

Thos. and Ben Laprade and Henry Wolf, all colored employees of the St. Bernard Coal Co., were in the middle room of the house asleep when the shooting began. They were "keeping batch." All three escaped injury although the walls of the two front rooms were perforated from floor to ceiling.

The armistice implied in the published statement—"It is reported that conferences have been had and that the union men have given assurances that their object is peaceful"—does not seem to have extended as far from the union camp as Barnsley.

HONEST RAILROAD MAN.

Remembered a Twenty-five Cent Debt and Paid it After a Quarter Century.

One of the most remarkable incidents in the debt paying line that has come to our notice is disclosed in the letter which follows, addressed to an Earlinton citizen and which pays for a supper eaten with Mr. McLeod here twenty-five years ago. The letter reads:

"MONTAGUE, TENN. Sept. 9, 1901.
"DEAR SIR:—
"Will you do me the favor of handing the enclosed 25 cents to Mr. McLeod, or some one of his descendants. He kept the Earlinton Hotel about twenty-five years ago. The trains, (pass.), stopped there for meals at that time. I was an employee of the Railroad and it has come to me lately that I owe Mr. McLeod the above sum for a supper I had there. By complying with this request you will greatly oblige,
"FRED MYERS."

Cigarette Campaign.

The Louisville Times states that the Anti-Cigarette League of Kentucky intends just as soon as the schools get well under way to renew the work begun last spring. There are 13,000 members of the Anti-Cigarette League in Louisville.

The sentiment all over the state, it is claimed, is against the cigarette, and the plan is to amend the existing law so that, instead of prohibiting the furnishing of cigarettes to persons under eighteen years of age, it will prohibit the furnishing to anyone, or, in other words, make the law absolutely prohibitory.

Leagues will be organized throughout the state. Money will be needed to push this campaign of agitation and education and the friends of the cause will be asked to contribute.

CARS DERAILED.

Illinois Central Train Stopped
From Taking Cars to Carbondale Mine.

COUNTY DEPUTIES ON DUTY THERE.

Fire Damage Had Been Repaired and Was Ready for Work.

Sunday night another attempt at destruction of property and interference with the coal industry of Hopkins county was made at Carbondale. The railroad trestle that was burned for that company Wednesday night of last week had been repaired and the Carbondale miners thought they would have an opportunity to resume work unmolested.

Sheriff Hankins went to Carbondale Sunday to appoint county deputies to guard the property, upon instructions from the county court. They were selected, ten in number, and put on duty. But Sunday night before the deputies had been able to make a tour of the railroad track that connects the mines with the main line of the Illinois Central Railroad, some outlaws put an obstruction of timbers across the track.

The train ran into the obstruction, which was spiked down, and cars were derailed. The engine was cut loose and the wreckage left. Carbondale was again temporarily delayed, but is now running as usual.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendixitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation and indigestion, to stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green August Flower in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing the matter with you. See Green's Prize Almanac, St. Bernard Drugstore.

Grapevine Items.

Tobacco cutting is the order of the day here now. The crop is an unusually fine one.

Mesdames Sarah Slaton, Ella Clark, and Lizzie J. Robt. Brown of the Liberty county, were visited in this vicinity last week.

Mrs. A. P. Hanner and daughter Miss Rosalie of Madisonville are visiting her brother, J. L. Todd, and other relatives this week. They will go to Nashville next week for a two or three month's visit.

The cemetery at this place is being cleaned off. The work was very much needed.

Miss Kate Walker of the Stanley school house vicinity is very low with but little hopes of recovery. The Bethlehem Christian congregation have secured a chapel organ for use in their worship.

A young lady of this vicinity was very much chagrined recently on hearing that a gypsy fortune teller had displayed a card of peaches and some roasting ears which she claimed was the fee the young lady had paid her for telling her fortune.

Charles Nisbet whose home is in this vicinity out who has been at St. Charles for some time, has been quite sick with appendicitis. We learn, however that he is recovering.

The writer visited the Grapevine school last week and found an attendance of about 40. Miss Willie Whitfield, the teacher, seems to understand the art of teaching the young idea how to shoot. This district has lately added some desks, blackboards and maps.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a Great Favorite.

The soothing and healing properties of this remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and permanent cures have made it a great favorite with people everywhere. It is especially prized by mothers of small children for colds, croup and whooping cough as it always affords quick relief, and as it contains no opium or other harmful drug, it may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by St. Bernard Drugstore, Earlinton; Ben T. Robinson, Morgantown; George King, St. Charles.

Bob Fritchett is going west again and with his family will make Pittsburg, Kansas, his home. Bob says he wants better school facilities for his children. He has lived in Madisonville for several years.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

John Peyton and others of the St. Bernard building crew, have been busily engaged the past week on trestle and other work over at the fifth hill. About a mile of outside track will be laid to reach the new shaft at that point.

W. D. Caviness and crew of helpers are at work putting in a new air compressor for the St. Bernard Company at the No. 9 shaft.

The Reinecke Coal Company, we understand, has turned their property over to the hands of the county court and asked for protection. Such a state of affairs as now exists, with the aid of U. M. W. in the county, if all reports are true, the step taken by the Reinecke Coal Company seems justifiable. Up to this time, not wishing to place upon the county the expense of hiring guards to protect their property, they have borne the expense themselves, but now that a camp of the U. M. W.'s have been established at Madisonville and that in close proximity to the above named mine and in defiance of law and order, they have justly concluded, that the expense should be borne by the whole county instead of by a few individuals.

Superintendent Powell, of the Seaboard Coal Company is much elated over the class of men he now has at work in his mine, most of whom he says are home or county men, and are a sober industrious class of laborers. Those formerly in his employ and who quit his service to join the poverty society, made their headquarters on many occasions at saloons, and were, generally speaking, a hard class to please, with the present force of whom were once farmers and has no trouble in peace and harmony both prevails.

Thousands of dollars have thus far been saved the members of the U. M. W. in coal bills, through the kindness of the St. Bernard Coal Company and other coal companies of this county, in allowing the sale of malcontents to use a large amount not fit for market, which had been cast aside. These men have accepted eagerly of what we may call this donation, when at the same time they were at dagger point with said coal companies, and we leave it to the public to judge who shows the greatest love for mankind.

The great steel strike is about to come to an ignominious defeat, and such they deserve when an order seeks only a recognition as such, and has no real grievance, and is not alone proffertest, but destroy all sympathy. Over fifty per cent loss is at this time reported, and the accessions to the ranks of the non-strike steel workers grow daily, and it seems only a question of time when this once strong organization will crumble and fall. If our readers remember a few weeks ago the U. M. W.'s were the first to extend sympathy to the steel strikers, and we wonder if that was the knothead blow.

The U. M. W. boasts of its great battle for freedom now being waged in this county, but let us see how far this freedom reaches. As an illustration we quote a Barnsley letter who, last week we saw, to hire some help, and went to one of the numerous U. M. W.'s at that place, and offered to hire him. The proposition was just booted at this fellow, who in reply said, that he would order against performing work for wages had been given all the members, and with that order came the threat that if one of their members was found at labor, his ratios would be cut off. Another case of this kind came to our notice last week when a U. M. W. at Seabree, who had taken a contract to unload several cars of brick at good paying wages was ordered to, and did quit work. We have been taught that slavery in this country was long ago abolished, but it seems there still exists a form of slavery, and that men can still be found who will follow the beck of their masters, even that may be to the ruin of themselves and families. Freedom of acts or words, it appears, is unknown to the poor U. M. W. under the present leadership in this county.

From several different parts of the county come the reports that the U. M. W.'s are arming preparatory to forcing the well paid, contented miners from the mine, but there is going to be both trouble and bloodshed when they undertake it. Our miners are peaceable if let alone, but don't twist the lion's tail, if you don't want to arouse him.

Is it not a shame that the coal companies of this county must call upon the courts for protection, while carrying on a legitimate business? And why do people stand idly by and endorse a gang who, if reports are true, come to this county with shot guns and Winchester rifles on a peace mission.

How many property owners of our coal mining towns would like to see a decrease of fifty or more per cent in the value of their property. Yet such a condition confronts them if the U. M. W. gains the day. You are face to face with a serious proposition. Already have the investment of thousands of dollars been lost, and driven away through the influence of an organization whose success means ruin to every mining town in the county. The voter has it in his power this fall to administer this gang a stinging rebuke. Vote for no man who by word or act has favored the U. M. W. in preference to men who for the good of the county have invested their thousands in the development of coal mines.

A false alarm aroused the citizens of St. Charles last Friday night and in a few minutes there were enough well armed men on the streets to have easily whipped a thousand of the U. M. W., if they show the fight they did in the last battle, when it is said some of their men ran eight miles to get out of range or reach of bullets.

It is high time the liberty loving miner and other citizens of Madisonville were becoming aroused to the danger of the situation. An armed body of men camped in their midst, whose object, it is said is to compel by force a surrender to the principles they advocate which often means loss of life and property.

Manager Ben W. Robinson, of the St. Bernard Coal Company, spent several nights at St. Charles last week attending to important business.

Business at mines in this county continues good, although a scarcity of cars is reported occasionally, but the supply generally speaking is equal to the demand.

Scarcity of water for steam purposes compels the Providence Coal Company to have the same hauled by the railroad company from Slaughter's daily.

We wish the brave men who composed the sheriff's posse at St. Charles a few days ago when they were fired upon by the U. M. W.'s, when on a peaceful mission to serve warrants, could read the article as appeared in full in the Mine Workers Journal written by one signing "Whistling Rufus." Facts were not what this fellow was after, only something to bolster up a lost cause, and encourage the boys out of the state, so they would send in some of the necessities of life. But the boys all know the truthful side.

In Ohio alone it costs the miners who belong to the union about $30,000 per year, a large sum to be paid for the privilege of working under the orders of unscrupulous agitators.

MRS. GREEN CHAMPLIN

Nee Miss Kate Rutherford, Dies Suddenly at Her Home in Hopkinsville.

Mrs. Green Champlin, of Hopkinsville, who before her marriage was Miss Kate Rutherford, died very suddenly Sunday morning at her home. Accompanied by her husband she was descending a flight of stairs and after a few steps had been taken she fell unconscious in his arms and died in a few minutes afterwards. Her death was caused from heart failure. She leaves an infant son only two weeks old, and the young husband is deeply sympathized with in his bereavement.

A few years ago and before her marriage to Mr. Champlin, Miss Kate was also engaged as a milliner at the St. Bernard store and as a result made many friends who were much shocked at her untimely death.

LARGE ENROLLMENT

Of Pupils at Earlinton School, Which Opened Monday—Lots of Little Folks.

The Public School opened Monday morning with an enrollment of 233. New pupils have been coming in daily and the number is even larger now. The teachers and patrons are highly pleased with the new arrangement, which divides the school in almost equal parts and gives the children as much time for real work as heretofore, although they stay in school but a half day; the advanced grades in the morning, the primary grades in the afternoon.

About thirty little folks are entering school this term for the first time, having just reached the required age, and feel just as big and proud as grown-up graduates, as do always the little ones in their first school days.

Parents and patrons are invited to visit the school.

For a Child

Who is "not doing well"—the condition occurs now and then with all children.

Scot's emulsion of cod-liver oil is a food that begins to build up at once—of course, it don't show at once.

"Not doing well" means that the child is not getting the good of his food. Not today, or this week; it may have been showing on for a month, before it begins to show in the child's condition.

You want him to get back to turning his usual food into strength. You want the food that begins to build up at once.

NEBO NOTES.

Nebo, Ky., Aug. 10.—Mr. J. N. Day's new dwelling is gradually nearing completion.

K. P. Huggood, our town marshall has bought the residence of E. E. McCulley and will move into it next week. Mr. McCulley will move to Madisonville.

Hazell Tilford, who has been visiting his parents the past few days, returned to his work in Providence this afternoon.

N. L. Day and son, Mrs. Sarah Rust, Miss Bessie Day and Thelma Cox attended the Baptist Association at Old Tirasah Sunday.

Rev. Cornelius, of Elkton, will give a social tonight at the court house under the auspices of the Epworth League, of this place.

F. M. Cox and wife visited relatives at White Plains Saturday and Sunday.

A. E. Hill and family, of Manito, spent Saturday night with his mother.

Miss Sue Brooks left last week for St. Charles, where she will remain with relatives until Christmas.

On last Sunday morning R. S. Hill, being of an inquisitive turn of mind, concluded he would like to know which was the harder, the heels of a horse or that portion of his lower limbs just below the knee. The horse he found had a great deal of force laid by for an emergency, and consequently has been going about on crutches since.

Rev. Currie and two of Earlington's young ladies came down this afternoon to attend the entertainment tonight.

One of our young ladies in preparing for Sunday afternoon is disappointed. I applied to her and she was glycerine to her face, but she immediately discovered that she had the wrong article, and that the same was carbolic acid. The result was a very florid complexion and a very sore face which bids fair to stay with her some time.

Will Fike and family, of Providence, visited friends here Sunday. The little son of Mrs. Nichols living near here was kicked by a horse Sunday morning and received a severe wound over the eye. It is at the least dangerous and may prove fatal.

N. Huggood and wife, of Madisonville, attended preaching here Sunday.

Miss Blanche Hill, who has been visiting here, returned home Monday morning. ANONYMOUS.

A crowd of negroes were shooting craps in a grove near the city limits at Madisonville Sunday afternoon when they disputed over the shots and John Garret shot five times, each bullet taking effect in as many of his game men. None of the seriously injured. Garret fled.

Hacking

There is nothing so bad for a cough as coughing. It tears the tender membrane of the throat and lungs, and the wounds thus made attract the germs of consumption. Stop your cough by using the family remedy that has been curing coughs and colds of every kind for over sixty years. You can't afford to be without it.

Loosens the grasp of your cough. The congestion of the throat and lungs is removed; all inflammation is subdued; and the cough drops away.

Three sizes the one dollar size is the cheapest to keep on hand; the 50c. size for coughs you have had for some time; the 25c. size for an ordinary cold.

"For 15 years I had a very bad cough. The doctors and everybody else thought I had a true case of consumption. Then I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and in a few days I was cured. I took a bottle and a half to cure me."

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY SHOT

The Awful Crime Committed at the Pan-American Exposition by an Avowed Anarchist.

TWO SHOTS, POINT BLANK, AT TWO FEET

Both Take Effect in the President's Body, One Inflicting a Dangerous Wound—The Assassin Captured and Protected from the Populace

BULLETIN, 3 A. M.—President McKinley sleeping and resting fairly easily. Temperature, 100.5; pulse 120; respiration, 24.

Buffalo, Sept. 6.—Just a brief 24 hours ago the newspapers of the city blazoned forth in all the pomp of headline type "The Proudest Day in Buffalo's History."

To-night, in sackcloth and ashes, in sombre type, surrounded by gruesome borders of black, the same newspapers are telling in funeral tones to a horrified populace the deplorable details of "The Blackest Day in the History of Buffalo."

PRESIDENT WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

President McKinley, the idol of the American people, the nation's chief executive and the city's honored guest, lies prostrate, suffering pangs inflicted by the bullet of a cowardly assassin while his life hangs in the balance.

Out on Delaware avenue, at the home of John G. Milburn, president of the Pan-American exposition, with fearful face and heart torn by conflicting hopes and fears, sits the faithful wife, whose devotion is known to all the nation.

The president was in a cheerful mood, and was enjoying to the full the hearty evidence of good will which everywhere met his gaze. Upon his right stood John G. Milburn, of Buffalo, president of the Pan-American exposition, chatting with the president, and introducing to him persons of especial note who approached. Upon the president's left stood Mr. Cortelyou.

It was shortly after four o'clock, when one of the throng which surrounded the presidential party, a medium-sized man of ordinary appearance and plainly dressed in black, approached as if to greet the president. Both Secretary Cortelyou and President Milburn noticed that the man's hand was swathed in a bandage or handkerchief. Reports of bystanders differ as to which hand. He worked his way amid the stream of people up to the edge of the dais until he was within two feet of the president.

President McKinley smiled, bowed and extended his hand in that spirit of geniality the American people so well know, when suddenly the sharp crack of a revolver rang out loud and clear above the hum of voices, the shuffling of myriad feet and vibrating waves of applause that ever and anon swept here and there over the assemblage.

There was an instant of almost complete silence. The president stood stock still, a look of hesitancy, almost of bewilderment on his face. Then he retreated a step while a pallor began to steal over his features. The multitude, only partially aware that something serious had happened, paused in surprise, while necks were turned to stare at the assassin.

Then came a commotion. With the leap of tigers three men threw themselves forward, as with one impulse and sprang toward the would-be assassin. Two of them were United States soldiers, the third was a bystander, a negro, who had only an instant previously grasped in his dusky palm the hand of the president. As one man the trio hurried themselves upon the president's assailant. In a twinkling he was borne to the ground, his weapon was wrested from his grasp and strong arms plained him down.

For a moment the confusion was terrible. The crowd surged forward regardless of consequences. Men shouted and roared, women screamed and children cried. Some of the nearest the doors fled from the edifice in fear of a stampede, while hundreds of others from the outside struggled blindly forward in the effort to penetrate the crowded building and solve the mystery of excitement and panic which every moment grew and swelled within the congested interior of the edifice.

Of the multitude which witnessed or bore a part in the scene of turmoil there was but one mind which seemed to retain its equilibrium, one hand which remained steady, one eye which gazed with unflinching calmness and one voice which retained its even tenor and filtered not at the most critical juncture.

They were the mind and hand and eye and the voice of President McKinley.

After the first shock of the assassin's shot he retreated a step, then, as the detectives leaped upon his assailant, he turned, walked steadily to a chair and seated himself, at the same time removing his hat and bowing his head in his hands.

In an instant Secretary Cortelyou and President Milburn were at his side. His waistcoat was hurriedly adorned, the president meanwhile admonishing those about him to remain calm and telling them not to be alarmed.

"But you are wounded," cried his secretary, "let me examine."

"No, I think not," answered the president. "I am not badly hurt, I assure you."

Nevertheless his outer garments were hastily loosened and when a trickling stream of crimson was seen to wind its way down his breast, spreading its tell-tale stain over the white surface of the linen, their worst fears were confirmed.

The president's assailant in the meantime had been hustled by exposition guards to the rear of the building, where he was held while the building was cleared and later he was turned over to Superintendent Bell of the Buffalo police department, who took the prisoner to No. 13 police station and afterward to police headquarters. As soon as the order of the Temple of Music had been dispersed sufficiently, the president was removed in the automobile ambulance and taken to the exposition hospital, where an examination was made. The best medical skill was summoned, and within a brief period several of Buffalo's best-known practitioners were at the patient's side.

THE SADDEST TASK OF ALL.

Breaking the News to Mrs. McKinley—She Instantly Resolved.

Immediately the president was cared for at the exposition grounds, Director General W. L. Buchanan started for the Milburn residence to forestall any information that might reach there by telephone or otherwise. Very luckily, he was first to arrive with the information. The Niagara Falls trip had tired Mrs. McKinley, and on returning to the Milburn residence she took leave of her niece, the Misses Barber, and the president's niece, Miss Duncan, as well as their hosts, Mrs. Milburn, and went to her room to rest.

Mr. Buchanan broke the news as gently as possible to the nieces and consulted with them and Mrs. Milburn as to the best course to pursue in breaking the news to Mrs. McKinley. It was finally decided that on her awakening or shortly thereafter Mr. Buchanan should break the news to her, if, in the meantime her physician, Dr. Rixey, had not arrived.

After Dr. Rixey had gone Director General Buchanan said that the doctor had broken the news in a considerate manner to Mrs. McKinley. He said she stood it bravely, though considerably affected.

If it was possible to bring him to her she wanted it done. Dr. Rixey assured her that the president could be brought with safety from the exposition grounds, and when he left Mr. Milburn's it was to complete all arrangements for the removal of the president.

Indian Killed for Resisting Arrest—Santa Fe, N. M., Sept. 10.—While resting a drunken Indian, who had a revolver, at Gallup, Marshal McCoy killed one Indian and badly wounded another. The Indians had killed McCoy's horse, and were shooting at him while fleeing. McCoy gave himself up.

Stolen Astronomical Instruments.—Berlin, Sept. 10.—A special dispatch to the Lokal Anzeiger from Bremerhaven asserts that the Chinese astronomical instruments whose arrival about a month ago by the Pacific excited some sharp press criticism have been shipped to Potsdam.

Ireland Abhors the Crime.—London, Sept. 10.—John Redmond the Irish leader, called to Vice-President Roosevelt as follows:

"In the name of the Irish nationalist party, I send an expression of deepest sympathy. Ireland abhors the dastardly crime."

To the Honor's March.—Leavenworth, Kas., Sept. 10.—George Braunwald, an inmate of the soldiers' home, was dishonorably discharged last night, and drummed out of camp for expressing satisfaction at the shooting of President McKinley.

They Ought to Know Better.—Marion, Ind., Sept. 10.—Three inmates of the National soldiers' home here are under arrest and in the guardhouse of that institution for having expressed sympathy with the attack on the president.

Poet and Printer Dead.—Columbia, S. C., Sept. 10.—J. Gordon Coogler, poet and printer, is dead. His verses have been read universally.

CAUSE FOR REJOICING.

President McKinley is Said to Have Passed the Danger Point and Will Recover.

THE PHYSICIANS ARE ALL CONFIDENT.

So General is the Confidence That the Pan-American Officials are Arranging For a Jubilee in Which the Entire Country Will Be Invited to Participate.

Milburn House, Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The president will live, but will probably carry the bullet of the would-be assassin with him to the grave. This is the expressed opinion of Dr. Chas. McBurney, of New York, in a statement to a press representative after the morning consultation of the physicians. He announced that the president had passed the danger point, and now only the possibility of complications remained. He also announced that the president, included in the muscles of the back caused trouble, there would be no necessity to extract it. In his opinion it would not even be located with the x-ray. The only use of the x-ray, he said, would be to satisfy curiosity.

All Are Confident.

All the other physicians were equally confident after the morning consultation, that recovery was assured. Dr. Mynter said the president was "out of the woods," and Dr. Wasdin supplemented the figure of speech by adding "with plenty of daylight behind him."

Dr. Roswell Park expressed it this way: "Unless unexpected complications occur we expect him to recover." "Everybody Jubilant."

The faces of the sentries who paced their beat, before the sun grew radiant; the tireless workers of the press were jubilant, and the people who gathered at the lines were so overjoyed with the strong assurance given that several times they were on the point of raising a cheer. Even the exposition managers began to plan a day of thanksgiving, not alone for the exposition, but one in which the whole country could join. It is to be given the aspect of a national day of rejoicing. They are arranging that on a certain day the bells of all the cities and towns in the United States, be set ringing and that the rejoicing be heralded with the sounding of whistles and the booming of cannon.

Distinguished Callers.

The members of the cabinet, Senator Hanna, Gen. Grosvenor (who arrived from Ohio this morning), and all the other distinguished friends of the president who have remained there to await the issue of the attack on his life, hurried to the Milburn residence to learn the particulars and join in the general jubilation. For hours carriages and automobiles streamed up Delaware avenue. Down town, the people gathered in crowds at the bulletin boards and gave vent to their feelings in rejoicing and in the exultation of the thousands of visitors who read the bulletins posted everywhere burst into cheers.

MRS. CZOLGOSZ IN BUFFALO.

The Prisoner Finds It Out in Some Ways—How They Will be Plenty of Money for Defense.

New York, Sept. 11.—A special to the Herald from Buffalo says: Mrs. Czolgosz, mother of the man who attempted to assassinate President McKinley, was in Buffalo Monday. She made no attempt to see her son. In some mysterious manner, however, he learned of her presence here, and when District Attorney Penney asked him if he wanted a lawyer, Czolgosz said:

"No, I want no lawyer now. When the time comes, I will be supplied with counsel. There will be plenty of money for my defense."

It is though it were spelled CZOLOGOSCH, being like many other Polish names difficult to get the hang of until one knows how.

WIT AND HUMOR.

An undertaker and a sexton should never under any circumstances ask after the health of a person. It looks suspicious, to say the least.

A Louisville young lady of German extraction by the name of Gretchen Gaterschotter lit the fire with gasoline last Sunday morning. The remains were found in a neighboring yard.

Biggs—Are school teachers members of the school book trust?

Diggs—I don't know, why do you ask?

Biggs—My children get five dollar's worth of new books every session, different from the previous ones.

Sidebottom—What's in a name, anyway?

Wittynous—Letters mostly.

What class of musicians do telephone girls most resemble? Swiss-Bell-ringers.

Waggies—What is the difference between the U. M. W. element in Hopkins County, Ky., today and the Anarchists who started the little Haymarket affair in Chicago some years ago?

Baggies—There were more of them at the Haymarket.

Bro. Currie—Johnnie, how would you like to be an angel and have wings?

Johnnie—Like it fine. Wish I had 'em low. I'd fly up in that tree and get my kite out.

Some men won't give their wife ten dollars to buy a dress with, but will spend fifty when that amount for a monument after she's dead and don't care anything about it.

Jinks—Say, Paul, old boy, how do you change for a twenty?

Paul—Yes, I believe I have.

Jinks—Well lend me ten of it until I see you again.

FRED FEILER telephoned to town yesterday afternoon and said, "Just heard from Boxtown that McKinley fired the first shot." It is believed that this can be supported by affidavit.

Anarchy at Home.

Viewed from a strictly personal standpoint and leaving out of the question the assault on the government, there can be no question that the cowardly kind of anarchy that shoots into men's houses in the darkness of night is more villainous than that which stalked abroad in daylight at Buffalo and attempted the life of William McKinley. We say leaving out of the question the attack upon the government made at the same time. For the attack upon our chosen head of government was an attack upon the whole people, prompted by a desire to overthrow our institutions.

But when the anarchists who sojourn in Hopkins county, afraid of the law and afraid of the light of day, riddled with powerful guns and deadly bullets the home of Mr. Inkerman Bailey, of the Reinecke Coal Co., at Madisonville; when they have time and again filled with bullet holes the homes of humble and industrious non-union miners of Hopkins county, at Madisonville, at Monarch, at Barney, at Providence in Webster county; when they have shot through tiple buildings, have fired upon watchmen guarding property in the night at St. Charles, at Carbondale, at Providence; when they have burned railroad bridges at Crabtree and Carbondale; when they have held up citizens and even a deputy sheriff passing on the highway near Nortonville; when they have ambushed and attempted to murder officers of the law in the open of executing processes of the law; when they have with rifles in their hands stopped a policeman on his rounds on the streets of the county seat and sent him to the city hall with a threat ringing in his ears; these have thrown down the gauntlet to all law and order; they have disregarded and endangered the lives of women and children; in their fear and cowardice and villainy they have sent their misadventured death indiscriminately and promiscuously, but always in the dark, caring not who might be the victims. They have endangered society at large and set at naught the law and dared the constituted authorities to enforce the outraged statutes, dared them to interfere with the brigandage which has established armed camps in times of strife and bloodshed within the county limits and even within the limits of the county seat itself.

Expressions are rife on all sides as to what shall be done with the anarchy that strikes at presidents and rulers. But how long will this anarchy be tolerated that derides the authority of State and county; that brings into contempt the law and its agents; that endangers the lives of men, women and children and destroys property?

How long will such a state of anarchy be tolerated in Hopkins county?

Deport the Anarchist.

An attempt upon the life of a President of the United States by an avowed anarchist is not simply an effort to take the life of a citizen, it is an act of treason against the nation, because it is prompted by the desire to throw the government into confusion—a desire to overthrow the government of these United States and all government. To say that an anarchist cannot overthrow our government, that he cannot even throw the government into temporary confusion, is aside from the question. The motive that prompts an act is the determining point as to the gravity of the act and the utterances and acts of anarchists are treason against our and other governments. They should be so denominated in and dealt with by the law. We have believed for years that anarchists should be hunted down and deported whether they have committed overt acts of violence or not. Violence is their thought, their deed, their habit. Since they desire no government but their own sweet will, it would be a deed of kindness, an act of charity to corral the anarchists of this country and colonize an island in the Pacific with them alone. Let them have plenty of room and fertile lands and permit them there, as in a sort of Government experimental station, to work out at their leisure their ideal of a system of living without government. How else could these messengers of death and confusion the quicker create their own sizzling hell; how easier could the country be rid of this brood of reptiles.

This Isle of Unrest should be patrolled three miles out at sea by a detachment of our mosquito fleet to see that none should go to disturb the plans and the pursuits of its inhabitants. They should be abundantly supplied with their favorite government fixers—the pistol, the dynamite, the infernal machine. And we would advocate giving them as instructors and leaders as many anarchy-breeding demagogues as could be persuaded to make the trip. The country could spare many such.

Let it not be said that we cannot enact special laws to protect the dignity of our government from vicious assault through attempts upon the life of its chosen head. Let it not be seriously argued that it were better policy and less dangerous to permit these creatures to crawl and spit their venom in the open than to pen them in a corner in a war of extermination. There should be no compromise with this dastardly villainy. It should be rigorously stamped out even if it requires a sacrifice of some of the nation's best blood.

The Bullet and the Ballot.

(Communicated.)

It is no special credit to be a fighter; pug-uglies beat philosophers in fighting; and the logic of the argument is amusing, when the fact is that our regular army, our professional fighters cannot vote at all except by special act by paid soldiers; women help to pay them; and had we a voice in the nation there would be few wars, for a strong nation can preserve peace. For every fighter some woman has fought with death; she has been his quartermaster, commissary, nurse, chaplain, surgeon, drill major for years, and it is simple justice that he should protect his mother without depriving her of what he would readily grant his enemy when conquered, self-government. If women had the ballot, they would quell quarrels among big boys as they now do among small ones; but if not, what sense is there in disfranchising women because they cannot, or will not, fight, and enfranchising paralytics, the halt, the maimed and the blind.

INTERSTATE FAIR.

Liberal Premiums for Live Stock—Big Midway.

GREAT ATHLETIC PROGRAM.

The first Interstate fair ever given in the South will take place at the grounds of the Louisville Jockey Club, Louisville, Ky., beginning September 28d, and closing October 5th.

Exhibits of all kinds, including live-stock, poultry, cereals and manufactured articles will be shown.

It is expected that every Southern State will be represented in some of the departments. Already, the Fair has attracted outside attention, and entries are being received every day for the various classes. Live-stock exhibits will undoubtedly be the most complete the South has ever seen. The Live-stock Committee has offered Fifteen thousand dollars in premiums and purses which has attracted entries from nearly ten States. The Hereford and Short Horn Record Association have added Five thousand dollars to the premium money to be distributed among these classes of cattle. Special prizes have been offered for horses, sheep and swine.

Another feature of the fair attracting extraordinary attention from the young people of the South is the Athletic Program. Five thousand dollars has been offered in prizes to the winners. It is open to all amateurs of the United States and every event will number its contestants a holder of a World's Record. The program will consist of running races, relay races, hurdle races, shot-put, hammer throw, pole vault, broad jump, high jump and discus throw.

The Association has arranged a complete Midway for which some of the best Vaudeville performers in the United States have been engaged. Mr. Will S. Heck, a prominent Theatrical Manager of Cincinnati, has this feature in charge, and he has spent some weeks in New York, engaging talent. Some of the attractions of the fair will be: The Japanese Theatre, Turkish Theatre, the Streets of the Orient, Animal Arena, Congress of Dancing Girls, German Village and a number of high class Vaudeville shows. The Midway will be kept open night and day, giving the visitors an opportunity to see the fair in the afternoon and evening.

The railroads have been very liberal in the matter of rates and have granted one fare for the round trip from all prominent points in Kentucky. Tickets on sale the first three days of each week, limited to return three days after the fair.

Oil for the Children.

Give them oil—cod-liver oil.

It's curious to see the result. Give it to the peevish, fretful child, and he laughs. Give it to the pale, anemic child, and his face becomes rosy and full of health. Take a flat-chested child, or a child that has stopped growing, give him the oil, and he will grow big and strong like the rest.

This is not a new scheme. It has been done for years. Of course you must use the right oil. Scott's Emulsion is the one.

Scott's Emulsion neither looks nor tastes like oil because we are so careful in making it pleasant to take.

ELDER E. J. WILLIS,

Of Hopkinsville, is Doing Some Excellent Preaching at the Christian Church.

The meeting that began Sunday at the Christian church in this city is being well attended and much enjoyed. Two services are held daily, one in the morning at 10 o'clock, the other in the evening at 7:30. Elder Willis is doing some fine preaching and impresses all who hear him with his earnestness and eloquence. The meeting will continue throughout the week and perhaps longer and it is expected that much good will be done. All are invited.

Gentlemen.—My wife was afflicted with Dyspepsia for some time. After trying other remedies I purchased a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for her and she rapidly improving. I cannot be without this valuable medicine. Respectfully yours,

S. ELLIOT, Elk City, Kan., Dec. 13, 1900.

Potatoes are so scarce and high in southwest Missouri that the people are now living on peaches and cream.—St. Louis Star.

Does it Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but a man wants something that will relieve and cure the most severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and healthier climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy which has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boech's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. Get Green's Prize Almanac. St. Bernard Drugstore.

Gold.

Now that Dawson City has a bounty on the lawyers will have a chance to get gold dust without digging.—New York Mail and Express.

"I had a running sore on my leg for seven years," writes Mrs. Jas. Forest of Chippewa Falls, Wis., "and spent hundreds of dollars in trying to get it healed. Two boxes of Banner Salve entirely cured it." Beware of substitutes.

Of the 2,000,000 bushels of barley produced by the civilized countries of the world Russia produces by far the largest amount. Next in order comes Austria which is followed by Germany, the United States, England and Spain.

We Want to See You!

We can tell what makes your eyes blur and your head swim. You are ill and Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will cure you or the manufacturers will refund you the purchase price. Sold by Jno. X. Taylor.

Mannington News.

The farmers of this place are cutting and housing tobacco.

There were quite a number of people that attended the baptizing at McFarlin's bridge Sunday morning. Rev. Crick preached two sermons here Sunday. There was a good attendance. He says he will preach here again the first Sunday in October.

SHORT LOCALS.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Davenport, last Friday night, a boy.

The holiness meeting, which has been in progress at the M. E. Church for the past two weeks, closed Sunday night. A number of visitors came to Earlinton to attend the meeting.

Mr. Thomas Whitford has a few rows of the finest tobacco we have seen in Earlinton for some time. In fact it is perhaps the only crop of "the weed" raised within the city limits.

Earlington has been invaded by the largest and most persistent army of mosquitoes that ever came this way. Night and day they are on duty, and there is no nook too secluded to be pestered by these little pests.

A number of St. Knights of the St. Bernard Commandery of this city joined the St. Knights of Madisonville in holding Memorial Services over the graves of their departed brethren at the Odd Fellows' Cemetery in Madisonville Sunday afternoon.

Bro. B. M. Currie will fill his regular appointment at the M. E. Church, South, Sunday. In the morning he will speak to the children and desires a large attendance of the little ones especially. All persons desiring to have their children baptized are requested to bring them out to this meeting. On Sunday evening he will deliver his last sermon for this conference year.

Veazy Items.

Crops needing rain through this section. Late tobacco and corn especially. Water is getting scarce. The early crop of tobacco is being housed by the farmers this week.

Mr. Wilkie Townsend had a young mule badly hurt by his jumping on a pailing fence.

Mr. D. N. Trice is trying his new machine on threshing timothy.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Jones are in Earlinton on a visit to relatives for a few days this week.

Mr. Jess Oakley came very near getting his house destroyed by fire Sunday night which caught from a lamp.

The meeting started at the Christian church Sunday night by Bro. Story was put off until the people get through with their busy work.

Mr. L. N. Vasey of Earlinton is visiting relatives here this week.

Mr. O. T. Compton is back home for a few days.

Mr. J. M. Fox of Nebo visited his home Sunday at the farm.

Mrs. Cora Booth is with her grandfather at Madisonville this week. It is not thought that he can last long.

Foot Mashed.

Willie Hossey, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hossey, had his foot badly, but it is hoped not seriously, mashed while riding cars in No. 11 mine Monday afternoon. Although the injury was painful, the little fellow stood it bravely. This should be a lesson to the many boys who persist in stealing rides on the mine and railroad cars and they should take warning before something more serious happens.

Is Doing Nicely.

Charles G. Johnson, who had his foot, severely mangled by having it caught in a wheel, while boarding a car to set a brake in the shop yard, Saturday afternoon, was taken to a sanitarium at Nashville Monday. Dr. Chatten had charge of the case and by his skill avoided amputation. Although doing as well as was possible, the father of the young man had him removed to Nashville, where he could be more conveniently accommodated. Dr. Eaves and son, Duncan, of Nashville, came down to see the patient and accompanied him to that city.

A Deep Mystery.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phoebe Chesley, of Potomac, Md. "I was lame back, pained me so I could not dress myself, and Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old I am now able to do all my household work." It overcomes Constipation, Improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at St. Bernard Druggists.

Thousands Sent Into Exile.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. Don't be an exile when Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption will cure you at home. It's the most infallible medicine for Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung Diseases on earth. The first dose brings relief. Astounding cures result from persistent use. Trial bottles free at St. Bernard Druggists. Price 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

SCHOOL DAYS.

The short vacation now is over. And the children meet once more On the grassless level playground. Just outside the schoolhouse door. See the bright-faced, eager children, With their satchel, books and slate, As they hurry down the pavement. Fearful lest they be too late.

When the bell for books has sounded They go scampering to their place. If their desk-mate is the right one You can tell it by their face. Soon the busy hum of voices Can be heard within the door, And the restless feet are moving On the bare and dusty floor.

Some bad boy is chewing paper Until it's as soft as mud, Then he throws it to the ceiling Where it sticks with a dull thud.

"Who threw that paper?" asks the teacher. With a stern and angry look. No one knows the guilty culprit— Each eye is fastened on a book.

When the time has come for recess They go storming out to play. Not a cloud to mar their sunshine, Always happy, glad and gay.

They will soon be men and women, Battling with the ills of life, May each one be a victor in the hard unequal strife.

No matter what may be their future, Nor what success in life they've made, Down within their heart's deep center Is a picture that will not fade.

The picture of a country school house Where tender memories hover still, Where the grapevine swing is hanging.

Near the pathway down the hill. There are still the rough old benches And the chalk marks on the wall, And the hollow in the white oak Where we hid our hat and ball.

Oh, the sweet old days of childhood, The happiest we will ever spend, From the threshold of life's journey Until we reach the rugged end.

TIMES.

Bored of Chronic Diarrhoea, After Thirty Years of Suffering.

"I suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea and thought I was past being cured," says John S. Hallway, of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hope of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to read a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am cured. I feel in the reach of all who suffer as I have." For sale by St. Bernard Druggists, Earlinton; Geo. Robinson, Martinsburg; George King, St. Charles.

A Card of Thanks.

I desire to express my sincere thanks to all my kind friends for the friendship and sympathy extended to me during the late illness and death of my beloved wife. My blessed Lord reward them one hundred-fold in this world, and comfort them in the hour of sorrow and affliction. JOHN T. WILSON. Earlinton, Ky., Sept. 10.

The Making of Good Coffee

Begins in the growing. Anywhere between the plantation and the coffee pot the flavor may be changed, the quality spoiled by carelessness, inexperience, or unscrupulous methods. From the time Arbuckles' Coffee leaves the hands of the grower until it reaches the user in a sealed packet, it is handled with the same watchful care, the same thought for cleanliness, that you would give any article of food that goes on your table. That's the reason it costs the grocer a cent a pound more than its cheap imitations. The extra cent you pay for buys much more than a cent's worth of quality and strength. A pound of Arbuckles' Coffee will give you more cupfuls of better coffee than you would get from other package coffees.

Be sure you get Arbuckles' Roasted Coffee. Other package coffees are but imitations of Arbuckles'.

In each pound package of Arbuckles' Roasted Coffee there is a list of articles. With each package in which the list is found the publisher has bought a definite part of some article to be selected by him or her from the list subject only to the condition that the signature on the package is to be cut out and returned to our Boston Dept. You should see this list. Address all communications to ...Watch the Box...

Midnight Message.

BY "TIMMIE."

In the winter of 1880, I was station agent for the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Railway at Oilphant, Ark., a small station in the White river bottom. My duties were many and varied, as is usually the case at small stations. I was express agent, mail carrier, ticket agent, baggage master and porter and I usually finished my work by nine o'clock at night. One day during the latter part of October, the cotton buyers from Little Rock came down to buy the cotton the farmers had baled and one of them said to me: "We expect a package of money containing probably five thousand dollars on the 8-30 train. In case we are not on hand to receive it, you can deliver it in the morning."

The train was two hours late that night. A cold, drizzling rain had been falling all day and increased as night came on. There were two or three loungers in the waiting room and I asked them to stay until the train came as the express messenger had notified me that he had a corpse on the train for my station.

About 10:30, the train pulled in and unloaded the corpse and the package of money. A man was in charge of the corpse and assisted us in the freight room with it, where we placed it on two chairs. I locked the money in the safe, and after asking one of the boys to show the stranger to the hotel, I closed the office, left the light burning and threw myself across the bed without undressing. The door between the freight room and the room I used as a bed room was standing open, and I could plainly see the coffin box about midway in the room. I did not feel afraid of anything, but somehow had that uncanny, indescribable feeling like there was someone in the room that I could not see. I lay there for sometime, listening to the dispatchers giving meeting orders and wait orders to trains down the road and finally dozed off to sleep.

I could not have slept more than an hour when I was from some cause suddenly wide awake and I heard the telegraphic instrument say, "Watch the box." The box that flashed through my mind was the one in the freight room and I sat up and looked at it, and to my horror and astonishment I saw the coffin box lid slowly rising up. It only took me a second to discover that there were two hands raising it, and I instantly divined the whole situation. Without making a sound I quickly reached my revolver from under the pillow and requested the gentleman in the coffin box to lie down or be shot. He chose the former and I got a hatchet and nailed the top down hard and fast, cutting a hole so he could breathe.

I had no further desire to sleep and in a short time heard some one working at the freight room window. I shot at the party and from that time until day nothing more happened. The next morning I turned the prisoner in the coffin box over to the authorities. He acknowledged he was after the $5,000 and the man with him was his confederate. They were both tried and given a long term in the penitentiary. The message in which the words "Watch the box," occurred, as I afterwards learned, were sent from the despatcher's office as Little Rock at twelve o'clock, midnight, to the conductor of a passenger train instructing him to watch the box on a coach that was running hot.

Underwood-Clark.

At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Dan Underwood last night, Miss Lizzie Underwood and Mr. Lem Clark, both of this city, were united in marriage. They will make their home in Earlington. The Bee extends congratulations.

A Terrible Effect of Speculation

By Olive Schreiner,

Author of "A Story of an African Farm."

EVER in all the world's history has there been a more terrible object lesson of the evils of speculation than is shown in South Africa to-day.

It was the demon of speculation that brought to a peace-loving people, Englishman or Dutch burgher, a devastating war that has cost thousands of lives of men braver a thousand times than the speculators whose greed rushed two nations into battle. It is to that same demon of speculation that may to-day be credited the smouldering ruins of South African homes and the existence of thousands of new and unmarked graves scattered throughout the South African plains and kopjes.

THE WHOLE SOUTH AFRICAN WAR HAS BEEN A BATTLE WAGED BY ENGLAND ON BEHALF OF THE SPECULATORS.

Nature did not bless our land with a productive soil that would make of us an agricultural people, nor with great inland waterways that would make of us a commercial people. The best that nature gave us was our minerals, our diamonds and our gold. It was out of these that we expected to build our great public institutions, out of these we expected to educate our South African children.

Nor were these the hopes of the Dutch burgher alone. They were shared by all Afrikaners, both English and Dutch.

First the speculators stole our diamonds. Then came the discovery of the gold mines of the Transvaal, and now the speculators have stolen them, and with them has gone the freedom of two nations.

It is not liberty-loving England that has done this of her own free will; it is but the speculators who have but used England as a cat's-paw. It is the men who have millions of ill-gotten wealth with which they have bought palaces, who live on champagne, who have yachts in Table Bay, and who deck women with a hundred thousand pounds' worth of jewels. It is these men who led England from the path of duty. It is these men, and these men only, who will profit from the war.

OH, FATAL GOLD! OH, TERRIBLE WAR!

Like the civil war in America it has broken a network of tender bonds, shattered the closest friendships our hearts will ever know, that the speculators might have that for which their little souls craved—GOLD.

We African-born English can find no hate in our hearts for England, our motherland, but we cry aloud at the thought that the land of our pride should have been led astray by the men whose ambitions have never risen above a lust for gold and diamonds.

Men and nations, beware of the speculator in whatever guise you may find him. HE SEEKS BUT TO DEVOUR. In South Africa he has torn asunder bonds that years and years will not mend again.

Sometimes we have to get pretty close to a lie to tell it from the truth.

The Literary Sword Fight

By L. C. Page,
Boston Book Publisher

AS the historical romance—or the "literary sword fight," as satirical critics sometimes call it—come to stay? WILL THE PEOPLE CONTINUE TO DEMAND THIS KIND OF FICTION?

This may be a matter of mere passing interest to the occasional reader of current novels; but it is a serious problem to the publisher who must trim his sails to catch the wind of popularity or suffer failure. Then, too, the changes in the reading taste of a great people are important and interesting.

MY OPINION IS THAT THE LITERATURE OF THE SWASHBUCKLING ORDER HAS ABOUT CLOSED ITS DAY. SO, THAT HAS THAT OF THE HARD-AND-FAST REALIST.

The Realist had the public eye and filled it with radical Impressionism until the people revolted. They became tired of commonplace actualities, of Barnyard Landscapes and characters whose lives are spent in fighting flies in farmhouse kitchens.

Then came the reaction. The story writers saw that the people demanded to be entertained with a kind of life outside and beyond their own hum-drum experiences—a spectacle which had Glitter and Splendor and Go! In response to this call for a view of life touched with the glamour of unreality, the romancer dipped his pen into the ink pot of royal traditions, of court history and colonial adventure and brought forth the Literary Swordfight. Since then the novelists have been busy making heroes out of country swains, and mating them with High-Bred Beauties snatched from the grasp of villainous kings and nobles. Cultured readers who would have shuddered at the sight of a yellow-backed dime novel have caught eagerly at the wildest examples of this historical hysteria. They have revelled with clear conscience in the melodramatic antics of court intrigues, fine ladies, heroic swains and Blood-Letters of every degree of ferocity.

WERE NOT THESE TALES CLOTHED IN CLOAK OF HIGHLY RESPECTABLE COVERS AND SANCTIFIED IN THE SACRED NAME OF HISTORY AND ROMANCE? THIS HAS BEEN SUFFICIENT!

But there must be an end to all this revel. The near-sighted Realists have been sufficiently rebuked and chastened; the Freebooter of romance has had his full fling and found that antiquated profanity is not literature, and now the atmosphere is cleared for something better, finer and saner in fiction than anything we have yet had. The Barnyard and the Sword-Fight will cease to stand as literary types and will become terms to designate temporary extravagances of popular taste.

In the place of these tidal waves marking two extremes of popular demand we will have a call for a literature which is neither swollen with realism nor riotous with romance. The next ten years of American fiction will mark a new epoch instinct with riper imagination and a truer analysis than has characterized the closing years of the last century.

JUDGE CANTRILL AND THE PULPIT.

Accuses the Preachers of Kentucky Prayed that Goebel Might Not Live.

Frankfort, Ky., Sep. 8.—In his charge to the grand jury today, Judge Cantrill referred to the assassination of President McKinley and also to the assassination of Senator William Goebel. He spoke for an hour and a half. Perhaps the most sensational part of his speech was the following:

"The pulpits, as a rule, sent up no supplication to the Throne of Grace that the life of William Goebel should be spared to his Commonwealth. If there were any expressions or indication as to the feelings of the pulpits, (the same pulpits in Kentucky which are now fulminating their thunderbolts against anarchists and anarchism, which is all right and of which I approve) at that particular time the public knew nothing of them, and if there were any prayers to the Throne of Grace they were secret prayers that the life of that brave citizen should not be spared and that the person who was making the contest against him should be his successor."

For Malaria, Chills and Fever

THE BEST PRESCRIPTION IS

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

The formula is plainly printed on every bottle—hence you know just what you are taking when you take Grove's. Imitators do not advertise their formula knowing that you would not buy their medicine if you knew what it contained. Grove's contains Iron and Quinine put up in correct proportions and is in a Tasteless form. The Iron acts as a tonic while the Quinine drives the malaria out of the system. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's is the Original and that all other so-called Tasteless Chill Tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. You are not experimenting when you take Grove's—its superiority and excellence having long been established. Grove's is the only Chill Cure sold throughout the entire malarial sections of the United States. No Cure, No Pay. Price, 50c.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

LESSON XI, THIRD QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, SEPT. 15.

Text of the Lesson, Gen. xxiii. 1-32. Memory Verses, 24-28—Golden Text, Luke xviii. 17. Lesson prepared by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1901, by American Press Association.]

1. "And Jacob went on his way, and the angels of God met him." In our last lesson the Lord and the angels appeared to him as he was leaving home, and now, after 20 years (chapter xxiii, 38, 41), as he is about to return home with wives and children and servants and much cattle, the angels of God meet him. In what wondrous grace the Lord deals with this man! And He is Jesus Christ the same yesterday and today and forever (Heb. xiii, 8) and has just the same grace for you and for me in chapters xxix to xxxi, inclusive, between the last lesson and this one, we have an account of Jacob's 20 years with his faithful servants, his marriage, his increase and the Lord's special care of him (chapter xxiii, 11-13, 24, 29); also in verses 41 to 55 the incident of the covenant between Laban and Jacob at Galed or Mizpah as they separated.

3-8. Jacob sent messengers to Esau, his brother, and on their return he learned that Esau was coming to meet him with 400 men, he became filled with fear and distress and attempts to make his escape, but he does not seem to have looked to trust Him without fear.

9-12. In humility he bows to God and pleads His promises to him, acknowledging all His great goodness with gratitude. This is always a right attitude toward God. The assurance of God when he left his home and when he was about to return should have delivered him from all fear concerning Esau's treatment of him. But many believers are not any more trusting nor any more assured as John 2, 27-29; Phil. 1, 6; 1 Tim. 1, 12, etc., there are those who have fears lest they may not reach home, but he lost somewhere by the way.

13-20. He prepared a present for Esau that he might thereby appease him—five droves of goats, sheep, camels, cows and asses—because he was afraid of him in case of charge of the droves as to what they shall say to Esau when they meet him. It looks as if he felt that he must do something to help God in this matter. He evidently believed the world's motto used by many believers, "God helps those who help themselves," but the teaching of Scripture is that God helps those who trust themselves, and we must come to an end of ourselves before we can know His power (Ps. lxxviii, 12; Job. 27, 28; Isa. xl, 29, and all His miracles).

21. "And Jacob was left alone, and there wrestled a man with him until the breaking of day." The margin says "until the dawning." It looks as if he felt that he must prevail over him, but the man wrestled with Jacob that he may conquer Jacob, and Jacob evidently stoutly resists him until the morning. God is ever seeking to break us down, to humble us, to bring us to the end of ourselves, that He may bless us indeed and show us His strength and magnify Himself in us.

25, 26. Toward morning the man who wrestled with Jacob touched the hollow of Jacob's thigh and put it out of joint, so that Jacob could no longer resist, after which Jacob clung in his helplessness, saying, I will not let thee go except thou bless me. This is the secret of prevailing with God, our helplessness clinging to His power. Consider those who came to Him when He was on earth for us and see how in every case His power was made manifest on behalf of utter helplessness; the blind, the lepers, the woman with the issue, those at the point of death and those who had died.

27, 28. "Thy name shall be called no more Jacob, but Israel, for as a prince hast thou power with God and with men and hast prevailed." We cannot get our new name of saint until we confess that we are and have been sinners and ought, but sinners. Jacob must acknowledge himself as Jacob or supplanter (chapter xxv, 30, margin) before he can receive his new name of Israel (margin, a prince of God). The Spirit through Hosea says, "By his strength he had power with God; yea, he had power over the angel and prevailed: he wept and made supplication unto Him; he found Him in Bethel, and there He spoke with us, even the Lord God of hosts: the Lord is his memorial" (Hos. xii, 3-5). Then follows the exhortation to turn to God and wait on God continually. This is the secret of prevailing prayer, persistent clinging to God alone, pleading only our need and His great mercy. "We will always have occasion to say, 'Though our iniquities testify against us, do Thou not for Thy name's sake' (Jer. xiv, 7). When we take the place of utter helplessness and unworthiness, and, like Jacob, cry, I will not let thee go, we shall see fulfillment of John xiv 13, 14, and similar promises. This is the first mention of the great name of Israel, a name that always is used to designate Jacob or his posterity. It is never used as a name for the church, not even in Gal. vi, 16, where it evidently means the believers in Israel, who are spoken of in 1 Th. ii, 14, as true believers. There is no authority for the term "spiritual Israel," though it may properly be used in reference to those who believe in Israel, but should never be applied to gentiles. We must not confound the church with Israel, the kingdom with either, though both of very prominent in the kingdom.

29-32. "He blessed him there." So Jacob called the name of the place Peniel (margin, the face of God), for he said, I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved. This and Ex. xxiv, 11; xxxiii, 20, in the light of John 1, 18, teach that every manifestation of God is through His Son. In Eden as well as here and in all the other appearances of God we must recognize Him whom we know as the Son of God, our Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of hosts, the Lord God of Israel, Jehovah of the Old Testament, who by His precious blood shed for us has provided eternal redemption and a joint heirship with Himself for all who receive Him. It would seem that Jacob carried with him from that time the evidence of that night's conflict, and we must never forget that we have been rebels against God, children of disobedience, and by His grace have been redeemed. We must learn to know that in us—there is no good thing (Rom. vii, 18) and glory in the Lord alone, seeing no man but Jesus only and covering above all things His blood, which maketh rich (Mark ix, 8; Prov. x, 22, R. V. margin).

A SHIPBOARD ROMANCE.

American Girl Now a Member of One of England's Greatest Families. Another charming American girl has just won her way into the highest ranks of the British aristocracy. She is the Hon. Mrs. William Arthur de la Poer Hensley Bessford, who was formerly Miss Florence Holmes Miller of Providence. The family into which our compatriot has married is one of the proudest in the United Kingdom, numbering among its members the Marquis of Waterford and Baron De la Poer, a brother of the Marquis of Bessford, England's famous admiral.

The Hon. Mr. Bessford was first attracted by the grace and charm of his bride, who is a clever artist, when they met on shipboard. She was returning from her studies abroad, while he was just back from South African battlefields. The handsome, impulsive young Briton pressed his suit for Miss Miller's hand, although she was engaged to an American. She exercised the feminine prerogative of changing her mind, and they were wedded soon after their arrival in America. Mr. Bessford is 24 years of age, and his bride is four years younger.

Ulcers, open or obstinate sores, scalds and piles, quickly cured by Banner Salve, the most healing medicine in the world.

MRS. WILLIAM A. BESSFORD.

OUR COLORED CITIZENS.

School opened auspiciously. The first day's enrollment stood at 143; a goodly number of patrons present and made timely remarks.

The register stands to date, 150. Last term the first day's enrollment stood 118; this term shows an increase of 32.

The Holiness meeting which has been in session for three weeks closed Sunday night. We know that many have been edified and theseed sown during this meeting will be growing throughout eternity.

Rev. and Mrs. Golings will spend the winter at home in California and Mrs. Morris and Biddy will likely spend some time at Nashville.

Many attended the missionary meeting at Morton's Gap and report a good time.

Rev. G. M. Fisher was in town Sunday and preached at the Baptist church.

There are two writing spiders at the residence of our correspondent returning from her studies abroad, while he was just back from South African battlefields. The handsome, impulsive young Briton pressed his suit for Miss Miller's hand, although she was engaged to an American. She exercised the feminine prerogative of changing her mind, and they were wedded soon after their arrival in America. Mr. Bessford is 24 years of age, and his bride is four years younger.

L. King has improved his street by making good walks.

Mrs. C. Hines is better.

MORTONS GAP.

The missionary meeting closed Sunday night with great success. A supper was given to help the mission cause. Several solos were rendered by Miss Lizzie Hamilton and Miss Lella Tonnell.

Miss Ada Seletman, of Madisonville, is visiting Mrs. James Hall this week.

Mrs. Matilda Bowdoin, who has been sick so long, is slowly improving.

Mrs. Lucy Nance and Tempy Porter were in Madisonville last week.

Jno. X. Taylor.

Our public school enrolled nine new scholars Monday, which made a total of sixty-five. They will give an entertainment Friday evening, and we hope all parents will come out and encourage the children and the teacher, Mrs. C. S. Steele.

Mrs. Queen Griffin is on the sick list.

Richard McNary has returned home after several days visit in Evansville.

Mrs. Birdie Coker went to Hopkinsville last week to visit friends.

Mrs. Simon Dunlap, one of the delegates to the missionary meeting, spent Friday and Saturday with Mrs. W. M. Patterson.

Letter List.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

People For the Week Beginning Sept. 15—Commenced by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic—True Honor—John v, 41-44.

This chapter is taken up with the healing of an infirm man on the Sabbath day, the criticism of the Jews in respect to this act and Christ's reply to their criticisms. Christ defended His Messiahship and explained to the Jews the cause of their unbelief in Him. At this point our lesson begins by a chief cause of their antipathy to Him and refusal to receive Him was their false conception of honor or glory. They sought honor of man and not of God. They were ambitious for worldly and not for spiritual honor. Therefore, as Christ had come not to honor Himself or to bring honor to them, but to honor God, they were not drawn to Him, but were strongly repelled. And the result was that faith in Christ was humanly impossible.

1. True honor is not the honor received from man. The Jewish idea of honor was false because it meant simply the honor received from men. They honored men who came in their own name with the hope that in so doing they would receive honor and glory from men. "I am come," said Christ, "in My Father's name, and ye honor Me not. If another shall come in his own name, him ye will receive." This prophecy of Christ has been amply verified by history. It tells of 46 false Messiahs, who succeeded in forming a party among the Jews, but their purpose in honoring these human Messiahs was to obtain honor themselves. Had Christ offered them honors and glories in a temporal manner they would have rallied to His banner. They would have enthroned Him instead of crucifying Him. These vainglorious, honor seeking Jews have many successors today. Thousands are madly seeking worldly honor and glory. But worldly honor is false honor. It is insubstantial; it is delusive; it is temporal. Christ sought it not. "I receive not honor from men." Let us not seek it.

2. True honor comes from God. The approval of God is the highest and of vastly more importance than the approval of man. Had the Jews sought this honor by consecrating their lives to the honor and the glory of God they would have been both able and willing to have believed in Christ and to have partaken of the glorious and eternal life of His spiritual and eternal kingdom. It was God's honor and honor from God that Christ sought. "I receive not honor from men," He said. His ambition was to do that which was in accordance with the will of God, and which would receive God's approval. This is the lesson that we should seek—honor from God. It is elusive; it is valuable; it is lasting; for it will endure forever. Let us not be deceived and waste our lives following the will-o'-the-wisps of worldly honor, but let us strive by a consecrated Christian life to receive the honor which cometh from God.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

BIBLE READINGS.
Ex. xii, 12; 1 Sam. ii, 30; Ps. xviii, 10, 14-16; Rom. xii, 3; 1 Cor. x, 1; 1 Th. ii, 12.

THE DIRECT WAY.
It is not the man who goes around talking to himself that succeeds in life. The most disagreeable people we have to deal with are the people who assert that their friends thought to know that they are sick or neglected or in want. The way to get, says Jesus, is to go right up and ask for it. Treat heaven as in the same usual fashion. A thing that is worth having is worth seeking for. Great discoveries come to men first as mere shadowy hints. There is a vast number of such or such phenomena mean more than has been wrought out, and men spend their lives in trying to "develop" the power so indistinctly revealed. See the good of your soul in that way, says the Lord. When you wish a favor, ask for it. You do not walk round his house and peep into his windows. You go right to his door and knock till some one comes out. Be as earnest about the things of God as you would win heaven's favorable consideration.—Selected.

Careful Speech.
Careful speech would seem to be a necessity of the daily life of Christians if they believe the Scriptural assertion, "By thy words thou shalt be justified and by thy words condemned."

Our lips are our own. We have the right to use language, but it should be tempered with discretion. Once a scornful or angry or censorious speech passes the gate of the lips we cannot control it, and its effects are beyond our estimation. Let us be careful what we say, and on our lips let us have the law of kindness—Christian Intelligence.

Strengthening Character.
An excellent way to strengthen character is to cultivate candor to acknowledge it when you are wrong. It will inspire self confidence, open the door to knowledge for you, and you will have the sweet consciousness of always being right in excluding at once all the spurs of wrong.—Reformed Church Messenger.

Thinking and Acting.

For His Sake.
Only that child who tenders we bear those young few weeks to us of us removed; How the sweet smile brightens our care and brightens near the last one that we loved.

Ah, could we feel such kindness and such grace Toward the fallen, in the meanest clod, Seeing the likeness of the Father's face, Then would our souls be lifted close to God.
